Chapter 1

From innovation in services to service innovation

1.1. Introduction	1
1.2. The main Characteristics of Innovation in Services	4
1.3. Service Innovation: Some Categories	8
1.3.1. The Degree of Change: Radical versus Incremental Service Innovation	10
1.3.2. The Type of Change: Product versus Process Service Innovation	11
1.3.3. The Newness of Change: new to the Market versus new to the Firm	12
1.3.4. Means of Provision as a Change: Technology versus Organization	14
1.4. Do categories boost the understanding of service innovation?	16
1.5. Reading Service Innovation according to different perspectives	17
1.5.1. Assimilation	18
1.5.2. Demarcation	21
1.5.3. Synthesis	25
1.6. Final remarks	30

Chapter 2

Service for Innovating: The Foundational Paradigms

2.1. Introduction	35
-------------------	----

	pag.
2.2. Systems Thinking	37
2.3. Service Science and Service Systems	39
2.4. The evolutionary path of S-D Logic	42
2.4.1. S-D Logic: from foundational premises to service ecosystem view	44
2.4.2. How Institutions and Technology Enhance Innovation: toward the emergence of service platforms	49
2.5. Systems Thinking, Service Science and S-D Logic for framing service innovation in ecosystems	55

Chapter 3

Service innovation in digital era: the role of platforms and innomediaries in value co-creation

3.1. Digital innovation and innovation management	61
3.2. The evolution of service innovation in digital era	65
3.3. From Service Platforms to Engagement Platforms	71
3.3.1. Service Platforms: toward modular-layered architecture	72
3.3.2. Engagement Platforms and service ecosystems	75
3.4. Innovation intermediaries	79
3.5. The role of Platforms and intermediaries in value co-creation and innovation	83

Chapter 4

Business model innovation: from open innovation to service value network

4.1. Business models in service innovation: a classification	89
4.2. Open innovation and technology-driven models	94
4.3. Community-based innovation and customers-driven models	98
4.4. Open service innovation and service-driven models	104
4.4.1. New service development	105
4.4.2. Service innovation in networks	107

Chapter 5

Service innovation management. A circular pathway toward co-innovation

5.1. (Eco)system-driven innovation: a meta-model for strategic innovation management	115
--	-----

	pag.
5.2. Multi-levelled and system governance for innovation	119
5.2.1. Entrepreneurship opportunities for innovation	125
5.3. Service platforms, value co-creation, innovation	128
5.4. Fit mechanisms for co-innovation and co-learning	132
5.5. The last “arrow” of innovation path. Toward creativity	135
