

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	page
INFOGRAPHIC	XIII

Chapter 1 SETTING THE SCENE

1.1. Introduction	2
1.2. The Theme of the Book	7
1.3. Research Context: The Global Arena	13
1.4. Good Governance in the Global Arena	16
1.5. The Role of Global Administrative Law (GAL) in Shaping Environmental Governance	17
1.6. Case Studies on Water Governance	20
1.7. Re-positioning Research	23
1.8. Book Structure	24

Chapter 2 PARTICIPATORY GOVERNANCE THROUGH THE ARCTIC LENS

2.1. Introduction	32
2.2. The Arctic Region as the Epitome of a Polycentric Governance System	36
2.3. Structure of the Chapter	38
2.4. Key Terminology: Contextualization of Sustainability and Participation	39
2.5. The Relationship Between Sustainability and Participation	42
2.6. The Arctic: A Pristine and yet Endangered Ecosystem	43
2.7. Sustainability in AOG: A Last-Minute-Invited Guest at the LOS Table	44
2.8. The Bridge Between Sustainability and Participation: The Circumpolar Cooperation Enhanced by the Actors of the Arctic Council	46
2.9. The Efforts Towards the Achievements of the Agenda 2030	48
2.10. The Arctic Indigenous Governance (AIG): Actors	50
2.11. Value-Sets and Legal Orders Embedded in Nature: The Polar Bear	51

	page
2.12. Toward a Transformative Change in Legal Research: Adopting Indigenous Community-Based Approaches to Address Core Environmental Challenges	55
2.13. Conclusions	58

Chapter 3

PARTICIPATORY GOVERNANCE THROUGH THE OCEAN LAW LENS

3.1. Introduction	62
3.2. Governance: The Concept Encompassing a Plurality of Subjects	62
3.3. The LOSC and Environmental Protection: State Sovereignty over Nature	68
3.4. State Sovereignty within Environmental Law Institutions	69
3.5. Protecting the Sea: An Ancillary Duty within a System Unequipped for Climate Threats	71
3.6. Criticism of the Legal Provisions on Marine Environmental Protection	73
3.7. LOSC Implementing Measures: Sectoral and Regional Actors Forged from State Sovereignty	76
3.8. Rethinking Institutions as Socially-Embedded Actors in a Post-Territorial System of Governance	79
3.9. Socially Embedded Systems Rooted in the Conception of Ocean Connectivity	83
3.10. Lessons Learned from the Paradigm of Indigenous Connectivity	87
3.11. LOSC, Ongoing Developments, and Moving Forward	89
3.12. Future Directions: An Integrated Institutional Framework	91
3.13. Closing Remarks	92

Chapter 4

TOWARDS A PARTICIPATORY NATURE-CENTERED GOVERNANCE

4.1. Introduction	96
4.2. Structure of the Chapter	102
4.3. Ocean and Nature-Centered Solutions Through a Global Lens	104
4.4. Recognition of Participatory Rights for Nature (PRfN) in the Århus Convention	105
4.5. Indigenous Communities Carry Forward the Process of PRfN	110
4.6. The Role of Indigenous Law in Creating Rights of Nature (RoN) Beyond Environmental Law Conventions	112

	page
4.7. RoN Stemming from a Water-Centered Indigenous Context	116
4.8. Water Courses and Nature Elements as Integrated and Indivisible Living Ancestors	118
4.9. The Indian Rivers: A Legal Personality with Some Implementation Hurdles	121
4.10. The Challenges of Implementing Nature Rights	123
4.11. Future Scenarios of the Water Centrality Discourse Applied to Ocean Governance	126
4.12. Ocean as a Global Commons in the Negotiations of a Treaty on Marine Biodiversity	127
4.13. Conclusions	131

Chapter 5

A PARTICIPATORY APPROACH TO LEGAL RESEARCH

5.1. Introduction	134
5.2. A Novel Approach to Environmental Legal Research: Participatory Research	134
5.3. Step One: A Critical Decolonizing Mind-Set	137
5.4. Step Two: Acknowledging the Relational Dimension of the Ecological Challenges	140
5.5. Step Three: The Role of Indigenous Methodology in Inspiring Relational and Co-Created Research	142
5.6. Step Four: Co-Creating a Learning Toolkit	146
5.7. Step Five: Testing and Validating the Learning Toolkit	151
5.8. Concluding Remarks	154

Chapter 6

TOWARDS OUR COMMON FUTURE

6.1. Introduction	157
6.2. Participation within the Context of Critical Systems Thinking (CST)	159
6.3. Concrete Examples of the Interaction Between Participation and CST: Western and Indigenous Views	161
6.4. Closing with a Water Story	165

LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	169
-----------------------	-----

BIBLIOGRAPHY	171
--------------	-----