

Contents

	page
Preface to the third edition	XVII
Preface to the second edition	XIX
Preface to the first edition	XXI
List of abbreviations	XXIII

Chapter 1

What is international law

1. In defense of international law	1
1.1. Law and society	1
1.2. Breaches of the law and its effectiveness	5
1.3. Reform?	8
2. Who needs a basic knowledge of international law and why	10
3. Regulating the relations between states and constraining their external sovereignty...	12
4. ...And internal sovereignty	14
5. Why do states undertake international obligations?	16
5.1. The example of the Rio Grande Agreement	17
6. Why do states comply with and breach international law?	19
7. Can we speak of a 'Constitution' of the international society of states? A brief history	25
8. Differences and similarities between international law and domestic jurisdictions	32
8.1. Predictability	34
9. Concluding remarks	35
Further reading	38

Chapter 2

Who makes international law and its recipients

1. The subjects and actors of international law. Introductory remarks	39
2. States and statehood	41
2.1. Recognition	44
2.1.1. Two difficult cases, among others: Kosovo and Crimea	47
A. Kosovo	47
B. Crimea	49
3. Intergovernmental organisations	51
4. Non-state entities	53
4.1. Individuals	53
4.2. Non-Governmental Organizations	57
4.3. Corporations	61
Further reading	62

Chapter 3

Making and changing international rules

1. Sources of law and sources of international law	63
1.1. The absence of legislation in international law	67
2. Article 38 of the Statute of the International Court of Justice	71
3. International agreements	73
3.1. Treaty law	80
3.1.1. Negotiations, adoption, manifestation of consent and entry into force	80
3.1.2. Invalidity, termination and suspension of treaties	84
3.1.3. Reservations and treaty interpretation	93
4. International custom	96
4.1. The role of precedents	98
5. General principles of law	99
6. Relationship between the sources of international law	104
6.1. Relationship of compatibility	105
6.2. Relationship of conflict	106
7. So-called 'soft-law instruments'	109
Further reading	112

Chapter 4

International law and domestic jurisdictions

1. Background	113
2. The monism v dualism controversy and balancing	114
3. Municipal law in international law and before international courts and tribunals	116
3.1. Jurisdictional immunities case between Germany and Italy	118
4. International law in municipal law and before domestic courts and tribunals	121
5. The doctrine of incorporation of customs and transformation of treaties in common law jurisdictions	123
6. The ‘receipt’ of international law in civil law jurisdictions	128
7. The crux of the matter: conflict and precedence	131
8. Jurisprudential nationalism	133
Further reading	139

Chapter 5

Breaching international law and its consequences

1. Introduction	141
2. International wrongs and state responsibility	143
2.1. Internationally wrongful act of states	146
2.1.1. Violation of an international obligation and attribution thereof	146
2.1.2. Circumstances precluding wrongfulness	152
2.2. The legal relationship of responsibility	156
2.2.1. Violation of erga omnes obligations	159
3. State liability and civil liability	161
Further reading	165

Chapter 6

The international means of dispute settlement

1. Introduction	167
2. The existence of a legal dispute	169
3. Diplomatic means of dispute settlement	173
4. Adjudicative means	178
5. Increasing adjudicative proceedings concerning disputes over collective interests	186
5.1. The UN political organs	193
5.2. Compliance review mechanisms, or treaty bodies: the special case of human rights and environmental law	196
5.2.1. Human rights treaty bodies	196
5.2.2. Compliance committees under Multilateral Environmental Agreements	197
Further reading	199

Chapter 7

Select areas of substantive international law

1. Introduction	201
2. The ban on the use of force and its limitations	203
2.1. The formation of the customary ban on the use of force in inter-state relations	203
2.2. Self-defence	208
2.3. The issue of humanitarian intervention	211
2.4. The use of force and the UN framework	213
2.4.1. The Security Council	213
2.4.2. The General Assembly and the ICJ	215
2.5. International Humanitarian Law or the laws of warfare (jus in bello)	219
3. International criminal law and justice	223
4. International economic law	228
4.1. International law on protection and promotion of foreign investment	228
4.2. WTO law	235
5. The law of the sea	237

page

6. International human rights law	244
7. International law on migration	250
8. International environmental law	255
9. The law of jurisdictional immunities	260
Further reading	264

Conclusions: Multilateralism v Unilateralism between War and Peace	267
---	-----

