

INDEX

	pag.
INTRODUCTION	1
Chapter 1
DEFINING THE SENSE OF POWER	5
1. One century of definitions	5
2. Social power and personal power	10
3. The key components of power beliefs	12
4. The need for power	24
5. Related but distinct concepts	26
Chapter 2
UNVEILING THE SOURCES OF POWER	29
1. The relationships between subjective and objective power	29
2. The drivers of psychological power	32
3. Operationalizing sense of power	35
3.1. Manipulation tasks	35
3.2. Individual differences measures	42
3.3. Physiological measures	44

Chapter 3

THE POWER WITHIN – IMPLICATIONS
FOR CONSUMER BEHAVIOR 45

1. The power holder as an abstract thinker 45
2. How do powerful and powerless people respond to rewards and threats? 49
3. How attentive is the powerful? 53
4. Is the powerful selfish? 57
5. Power and self-perception 60
6. Power and social cognition 66
7. How the powerful reacts to power 68
8. Behavioral and motivational tendencies of powerful and powerless individuals 69
9. Moderators of sense of power 74
10. On the distinctiveness of the concepts of low power and high power 77

Chapter 4

EMPOWERING THE CONSUMERS – DOMAINS
OF EMPOWERMENT 79

1. What is consumer empowerment 79
2. Domains of applications of consumer empowerment 81
 - 2.1. Consumer choice 81
 - 2.2. Market information / consumer knowledge 84
 - 2.2.1. Firm-supplied information 85
 - 2.2.2. Consumer-supplied information 87
 - 2.3. Consumer experience 92

Chapter 5

FROM CHOICE TO CO-CREATION: THE EXPANSION
OF CONSUMER EMPOWERMENT 97

1. Types of co-creation 100
 - 1.1. Initiating phase 102

	pag.
1.2. Design phase	103
1.3. Manufacturing/construction phase	104
1.4. Assembly phase	105
1.5. Distribution phase	106
1.6. Consumption phase	107
2. How firms can stimulate co-creation	108
3. Is there a case for value co-destruction?	110
 Chapter 6
POWER IN ACTION – AN EXPERIMENT	113
1. Background and hypotheses	113
2. Method	115
2.1. Design and participants	115
2.2. Procedure	115
2.2.1. Sense of power	115
2.2.2. Dependent measures	116
2.2.3. Control measures	116
3. Results	117
3.1. Manipulation check	117
3.2. Willingness to buy a product to self-assemble	118
3.3. Accounting for treatment dropouts	120
4. Discussion	123
5. Managerial implications	124
 REFERENCES	127

