

CONTENTS

	page
Introduction	1
1. Historical and political relations between the United Kingdom and continental Europe
1. The two sides of the Channel	7
2. The historical dimension and its declinations	10
3. European unity in Winston Churchill's speeches	15
4. The long-lasting negotiations and accession to the European Communities	19
5. The 1975 Brexit referendum	22
6. The decades-long ambiguities of British membership	24
2. David Cameron's political strategies: From Coalition Agreement to Agreement with Tusk
1. The 2010-2015 legislature: European issues between Hung Parliament and Coalition Government	29
1.1. The situation on the eve of the elections	29
1.2. No overall majority	31
1.3. The Coalition Agreement	32
1.4. The European Union Act 2011	35
1.5. The prodromes of a conflict	36
2. The 2014 European elections and the UKIP triumph	39
2.1. The British and the European Parliament	39
2.2. The peculiar characters of UKIP	41
2.3. The concerns of the Tories	42
2.4. The electoral earthquake	43
3. The 2015 General Elections and the two parallel tracks	45
3.1. The Conservative Manifesto	45
3.2. The electoral background	46

	page
3.3. The election results	47
3.4. The start of the legislature	51
3.5. The presentation of the EU Referendum Bill and the start of negotiations with the European Union	53
4. The Cameron-Tusk Agreement	56
4.1. The negotiation	56
4.2. The contents of the agreement	60
4.3. The political implications	62
 3. The Brexit Referendum in the British Constitution
1. The law establishing the referendum	65
1.1. The Bill proposed by the Government	65
1.2. The parliamentary procedure	67
1.3. The amendments debated	69
1.4. The referendum question	71
1.5. The political significance of the law	73
2. The referendum campaign	75
2.1. Cameron's views and the setting of the date	75
2.2. Parties and Committees between Remain and Leave	75
2.3. A bad and dramatic campaign	80
3. The results of the Brexit Referendum	82
3.1. A breathless night	82
3.2. All the numbers from the vote	83
3.3. David Cameron's resignation	87
4. Reflections on the referendum in the British Constitution	90
4.1. Parliamentary sovereignty and popular will: a vexata quaestio	90
4.2. The referendum as an established legal and political instrument	93
4.3. The debate on the legal nature of the Brexit Referendum	98
4.4. The asymmetrical nature of the question	99
4.5. The constitutional significance of the Brexit Referendum	105
 4. Theresa May's Premiership: "Brexit means Brexit"
1. Chronicles from a bewildered country	111
1.1. Uncertain prospects	111
1.2. A paradoxical petition	112
2. David Cameron's replacement: leadership and premiership	114
3. The Jurisprudence of the Common law courts on "Invoking Article 50"	116

	page
3.1. Fractures, doubts and questions	116
3.2. The entry into the field of the Judiciary	118
3.3. The appeals from Northern Ireland and the judgment of the High Court in Belfast	120
3.4. The English appeal and the judgment of the High Court in London	122
3.5. The political consequences	127
4. The UKSC Miller 1 judgment	128
4.1. The appeals to the Supreme Court	128
4.2. Devolution in the Miller 1 judgment	130
4.3. Royal Prerogative and fundamental rights	132
4.4. The need for legislative authorization	134
4.5. The dissenting opinions	135
5. The EU Court of Justice judgment on “Revoking Art. 50”	136
5.1. The case	136
5.2. The contents of the judgment	139
5.3. Miller 1 reread in the light of this judgment	142
6. The law on the activation of the withdrawal procedure	142
6.1. The political framework	142
6.2. The text of the statute	145
6.3. A reflection on the Constitution	146
7. The dissolution of Parliament and the 2017 General Elections	148
7.1. The snap election	148
7.2. Reflections on the first application of the Fixed-term Parliaments Act 2011	149
7.3. The electoral result: Hung Parliament and minority government	155
8. The EU Withdrawal Act 2018	158
8.1. The systemic significance of the Government Bill	158
8.2. The complex parliamentary battle	160
8.3. The Brexit story two years after the Referendum	161
8.4. The judicial dispute over the Scottish statute	164
9. The Agreement with the European Union and the non-ratification by Parliament	167
9.1. The Withdrawal Agreement 2018	167
9.2. The Northern Ireland backstop	168
9.3. The stinging parliamentary defeats and the resignation of the Prime Minister	171

5. Boris Johnson's Brexit: From Prorogation to TCA

1.	The Tory contest	175
1.1.	The political framework	175
1.2.	The race for the leadership	177
2.	The Prorogation and its constitutional fallout	178
2.1.	The political strategies of the new Prime Minister	178
2.2.	The prerogative and its instrumental use	181
2.3.	The debate in British doctrine	184
2.4.	Parliament's swift counter-moves: from S.O. No. 24 to the Benn Act	186
3.	The judicial interventions	189
3.1.	The judicial issues	189
3.2.	The UKSC's Cherry/Miller 2 judgment	191
3.3.	The systemic character of the ruling	195
4.	The comedy of misunderstandings	198
4.1.	The resumption of negotiations with the European Union and the Withdrawal Agreement 2019	198
4.2.	The paradoxes of a parliamentary day	200
4.3.	The dissolution of Parliament	202
5.	Endgame	204
5.1.	The Manifestos for the 2019 General Elections	204
5.2.	The electoral outcomes	206
5.3.	The Withdrawal Agreement Ratification Act and Brexit Day	207
6.	A good neighbourhood pact	209
6.1.	The resumption of negotiations	209
6.2.	Towards agreement	211
6.3.	The UK-EU Trade and Cooperation Agreement	214

6. The consequences of Brexit on the future of the United Kingdom

1.	Theory and practice of the British Constitution to the test of Brexit	217
1.1.	Sovereignty and Constitution	217
1.2.	Political and legal issues towards an unrealistic second Brexit referendum	222
1.3.	The evolutions of the form of government	228
1.4.	The political turmoil of 2022	234
1.5.	The relations with the European Union, between perspectives and unknowns	238
2.	Risks to the integrity of the United Kingdom	242

	page
2.1. Devolution between autonomy and secessionism	242
2.2. Scotland towards IndyRef.2	248
2.3. Northern Ireland and the Border Poll horizon	257
3. In conclusion: Brexit as a constitutional moment	260
Afterword	265
References	269
Index	287